

CHICAGO RIOT.

The Trouble Started by Unemployed Italians.

Five Hundred Policemen Quickly Summoned to the Scene.

The Mob Resists With Clubs and Stones. But Are Finally Put to Flight—Twelve of the Leaders Are Under Arrest—No Attempt to Rescue Them.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The crowd of unemployed men and idle spectators which gathered at the lake front Wednesday morning was much larger than usual.

Shortly after 10 o'clock indications of rioting began to manifest themselves, but no definite movement toward a concerted demonstration was made. By 11 o'clock the outskirts of the throng were surging across Michigan boulevard and blocking access to the auditorium.

Along the boulevard and streets leading from that thoroughfare traffic was completely suspended.

The chief of police was notified of the condition, and detachments of police, numbering altogether 500 men, were ordered to the lake front.

In the meantime five hundred Italians and others marched up State street to Louis Stizzari's provision store, where they demanded two flags, the property of the Italian C. B. Sharpshooters' society. Mr. Stizzari refused to give up the flags, but gave the leaders $2, with which they bought the Italian and American flags and returned to the lake front.

By this time the police reinforcements began to arrive and they were just in time, for the mob had become excited and very disorderly.

Rioters who were on the eastern outskirts of the crowd picked up stones and coupling pins from the Illinois Central tracks and threw the heavy missiles at the police.

The latter, led by Inspectors Shea and Loughlin, charged on the crowd, and, after a brief struggle, the rioters fled, pursued by the police.

As the heart of the mob around the monument saw their friends scatter before the swinging clubs of the police, the leaders and their followers turned and fled, and five minutes later Columbus' monument for the first time Wednesday was deserted.

That the mob was armed and intended a riotous demonstration was evident by the queer collection of weapons strewn on the lake front green sward after the mob fled. Clubs and staves were most prominent.

A number of long missiles bound by long wire handles were noticeable, and pieces of iron, of all shapes and sizes completed the collection. In the scamp for safety the weapons had been abandoned.

About a dozen prisoners remained in police custody after the mob had fled. They were captured in the rush and held by the officers while other police continued their pursuit. The prisoners were taken to central station and no attempt was made to rescue them.

GREAT UNION

Of Sunday-School Workers Held in St. Louis—Beginning of the Annual International Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—Delegates to the seventh annual convention of the International Sunday-school union have been arriving from all points of the compass during the past twenty-four hours, and Wednesday morning nearly 1,300 names are registered at headquarters. Nearly all have been assigned to private houses, but it has been found necessary to secure hotel accommodations for about 300 visitors.

At a mass meeting in Centenary M. E. church Wednesday night, of Sunday school and church workers, prayers were offered for the success of the convention.

The international conference of field workers began Wednesday morning in Music hall, which was elaborately decorated for the occasion. W. J. Semelroth, state secretary of Missouri, called the assemblage to order, and after a few words of greeting, introduced Rev. A. P. George, of Kansas, who delivered the invocation and led the praise service. The following papers were then read:

"The Township Association," by W. B. Jacobs, of Illinois; "A County Campaign," by Alfred Day, of Ontario; "The County Convention," by Marion Lawrence, of Ohio; "The County Field Agent," by Rev. E. P. St. John, of New York, and "The Normal Institute," by E. S. Boswell, of Kentucky.
